Diversity of Physicians in Leadership and Academic Positions in Alberta: A Cross-sectional Survey

Page 1 of 20

Appendix 1. Truncated survey instrument. Includes questions used for analysis in this manuscript.

Questions:

Prioritizing equity, diversity, and inclusion in Alberta's physician workforce is challenged by lack of data on the diversity of our current physician workforce. In order to target areas for change, we would like to understand who is currently working in Alberta and how their work may differ by axes of potential discrimination. Some of the following survey questions ask about sensitive and personal information. This information is important because it will help understand who is represented and who is underrepresented in our physician workforce and in our leadership. Please feel free to answer "Prefer not to answer" or skip any question.

The information collected in this section is intended to understand diversity among physicians in Alberta. This data will be collated and presented in aggregate by independent study team members, and individual-level responses will not be directly reported.

Any data that is so specific as to be potentially identifying will be presented in aggregate only. For example, we may present the data as "There are fewer than ten physician leaders who identify as gay" or "Of the 200 physician leaders, between 30 and 50 reported identifying as a non-visible minority". Comments in free text boxes may be used to clarify your responses to specific questions. Comments in free text boxes may also be reported or published. These comments will be edited to ensure that no identifying details are publicly reported.

Please note that the last question can only be answered on a computer rather than a cell phone.
